Plans Completed For Post Office Facility; Contractor Bids Invited

Plans for the new 10,326 square foot post office facility to serve Murray and Calloway County have been completed and contractors have been invited to bid on construction of the building according to an announcement made today by the Central Region office of the U.S. Postal Service in Chicago.

The new single-level structure is estimated to cost up to $1 million to build and will replace the present facility which has "become inadequate to meet the community's increased mail volume," the announcement said.

The new structure is to be built on Chestnut Street near the intersection of Chestnut and 10th and west of the old City Park property.

Plans, specifications, and bid documents will be available to interested contractors beginning July 12 from the Real Estate and Building Office, U.S. Postal Service, Room 508, 200 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky. 40202. The closing date for submitting bids on the project is August 15.

Construction is expected to begin this fall once a contractor has been selected. The invitation to bid stipulates that the construction is to be completed in 400 calendar days.

The contract for the construction of the new facility will include vehicle parking and maneuvering areas as well as a platform and ramp on the building itself.

The invitation to bid specifies a steel frame building with exterior masonry walls and a metal roof deck. The site work also includes landscaping and sidewalks, according to the bid proposal.

The site for the new post office was purchased by U.S.P.S. following several weeks of controversy over the location as well as a drainage problem on the present site.

After it was revealed that U.S.P.S. was interested in the Chestnut Street site a move was started by some local citizens who wished to keep the post office in the downtown area. That move failed to sway postal officials who maintained that the Chestnut Street site was better-suited for its operations because it, they said, is more centrally located in relation to local postal routes.

The major stumbling block to the Chestnut Street location was the drainage problem. Postal service engineers had stipulated that the property would only be suitable if the city would allow the construction of a drainage pipe underneath 10th Street that would divert water from the site onto the old City Park property.

The matter was discussed at several city council meetings and the city hired a local engineering firm to study the effect the drainage proposal would have on the park property and other property owners further downstream from the project.

The council eventually approved the drainage proposal opening the door for the postal service to move ahead with plans for the construction of the new facility at the new location.

American Motorists May Have Easier Time Filling Up Tanks This Weekend

By The Associated Press
American motorists who have been waiting, scheming, siphoning and even shooting to get a full tank of gas in recent weeks should find the filling up a bit easier this weekend.

According to the American Automobile Association and an Associated Press spot check, long gas station lines will be rare and supplies should be fairly plentiful in most parts of the nation.

The shortest supplies likely will be concentrated in the Washington, D.C., area and parts of New England and the Great Lakes states.

The AAA said Thursday it found the "first good news in weeks for many American motorists" in a survey of nearly 6,200 gas stations.

Motorists should expect "more gasoline available, more service stations open and shorter station lines," the AAA report said. "Fourteen percent more stations will be open this weekend than were open last weekend."

Officials attribute the improvement to increased supply, due to delivery of July fuel allocations, and decreased demand, due to a slump in driving.

"We're telling people we believe the gasoline situation should be a little less of a problem this weekend because most stations received their July allocations this week," said Kevin Kneisley of the Kansas Department of Economic Development.

"The lines are getting consistently shorter, people are worrying less about getting fuel," said Danny Alvarez, fuel allocation officer of Florida's Dade County, which includes Miami. "The facts and figures indicate we shouldn't have any lines at all."

State officials reported that travel over the Fourth of July holiday was down considerably from past years, apparently because of the gas crunch and, in some areas, bad weather.

The gas shortage also has changed buying habits and trimmed sales at some of the nation's largest retailers, according to June sales reports released Thursday. Retailers reported sales dipped for some items, such as tires and luggage, while catalog sales improved.

Parks Board To Hold Meeting On Tuesday In County Courthouse

The Murray-Calloway County Parks Board will hold its next regularly scheduled meeting at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 10, in the Calloway County Courthouse, according to Gary Holman, parks director.

Items on the agenda include the finance committee report, old park grant and a possible park addition.

Reassessments Cause Revenue Increase

School Board Votes To Lower Tax Rate For City

By DEBBIE N. LEE
Staff Reporter

Members of the Murray Independent Board of Education voted Thursday afternoon to lower the ad valorem tax rate from 58.5 percent to 54.3 percent. This rate lowering will, however, produce a 4 percent increase in total tax revenue because of the property reassessment mandated by state law this year.

According to House Bill 44, if board members had decided to establish a rate that would increase total revenues more than 4 percent, the action would be subject to a recall petition which could place the issue on the ballot.

The 4 percent increase is not subject to a recall petition although a public hearing is required for the purpose of expressing the board's intention of establishing the rate. The hearing is set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 26, during the regularly scheduled board meeting.

House Bill 44, passed during the last session of the General Assembly, limited to 4 percent the tax money increase that the increased assessment can produce in each taxing district.

The school system will forfeit approximately $66,000 by not increasing the tax rate to the maximum allowed by state law, according to an estimate by superintendent Robert Glin Jeffrey.

However, Jeffrey said that the budget for the 1979-80 school year was drawn up on the basis of only a 4 percent increase in tax revenues so the system will be able to meet the budget requirements for the coming year.

Since 30 cents of the tax rate goes to the state, only 28.5 cents was spent locally last year. The general fund tax rate (local portion) for 1978-79 was 21.3 cents and produced a revenue of $258,631. The special voted building fund tax rate (local portion) for last year was 7.2 cents and produced $87,424 in revenue.

The proposed general fund tax rate of 18.1 cents is expected to produce $271,865 for 1979-80, while the proposed special voted building fund tax rate of 6.2 cents should produce $93,125.

Revenue expected from new property and personal property is $102,527.

The general areas to which the revenue in excess of the 1978-79 revenue is to be allocated are: cost of collections, exonerations, discounts and delinquents, $4,618.65; instruction, $3,500; pupil transportation, $2,000; operation of plant, $1,000; maintenance of plant, $2,000; fixed charges, $195.35; and building fund, $5,621.

This year's property reassessments, the first since 1975, were made in compliance with a state law requiring assessments to match market values. Assessments in the past had not been adjusted from year to year with the increased rate of inflation.

In other business, the board approved the hiring of James Wright as associate band director and Kathy Jackson as a learning disabilities teacher.

Wright, former head band director with the Christian County School System, served last year as a graduate assistant under Murray State University band director David Wells.

Jeffrey said that the position of assistant band director, the third instrumental music post, was still open and should be filled in the near future. He did emphasize, however, that this position would be on a year-to-year basis.

In addition, the superintendent announced that Betty Jackson, a fifth grade teacher at Murray Middle School, would also serve as assistant girls basketball coach at Murray High School.

Carter Cancels Energy Speech And Address To Governor's Conference

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, having canceled an energy policy speech, today conducted what was described as "almost a domestic summit" that may keep him cloistered at Camp David, Md., "well into next week."

Carter also scrapped plans to address a meeting of the nation's governors but called a group of state executives to Camp David.

A White House official, who asked not to be identified, said that while the key issues were energy and the economy, "the discussions will not be limited to those subjects." He declined to elaborate.

This source said the president "decided now is the time" to review a broad range of domestic policy questions.

The consultations began Thursday when Vice President Walter F. Mondale led a group of Carter advisers to the mountaintop retreat, where the president took his family Tuesday for a short holiday.

In Atlanta, the secretary to Charles Kirbo, an attorney and Carter confidant, said Kirbo was flying to Washington, presumably to see the president. The White House has promised consultations "both in and outside of government."

The White House official said "the president will not be returning to Washington until he's seen the people he wants to see, and has had time to assess what he has heard."

Also summoned to Camp David for talks tonight were Gov. Julian Carroll of Kentucky, chairman of the National Governors Association, and a "representative group" of other state executives.

Carter canceled plans for a weekend trip to Louisville for the summer meeting of the governors group. He announced that Mrs. Carter and Mondale would make the trip instead. Mondale and top advisers to Carter spent Thursday night at Camp David and most apparently will remain there with the president at least through the weekend to conduct a series of meetings.

A presidential aide, who asked not to be named, said Carter had set no date for the end of the conference.

Besides Mondale, the aides at Camp David were press secretary Jody Powell, political adviser Hamilton Jordan, media adviser Gerald Raftery, domestic policy adviser Stuart Eizenstat and pollster Patrick Caddell.

With reasons for the speech cancellation still cloaked in mystery, Powell issued through his office Thursday evening a brief statement that raised as many questions as it answered.

Powell said, in full: "The president is in the process of assessing major domestic issues which he believes are important to the country and which include, but go beyond, the question of energy."

"He will be consulting with a number of individuals whose judgment he respects, both in and outside of government."

The canceled speech, set for television-radio broadcast Thursday night, was to have dealt with inflation and the threat of a recession, as well as with energy.

A White House source, who asked not to be named, said Carter's motives for shelving the address went beyond dissatisfaction with a draft text.

This source said it would not be incorrect to say Carter was displeased with the draft. But he added, "That's not the whole story. I'm not in a position to discuss it further at this time."

Another source, discussing the speech draft, said Carter "asked for a bold new approach and the material he got turned out to be not so bold and not so new."

Snodgrass To Speak At Dark Fired Meeting

Members of the Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association will hear Frank B. Snodgrass outline the future of tobacco at their Annual Meeting on Wednesday, July 11th.

Mr. Snodgrass has served as Executive Vice-President of the Burley and Dark Leaf Tobacco Export Association for the past twenty years and is recognized as an authority of tobacco marketing. The organization, based on Washington, is a liaison between growers and the Congress. The organization is composed of ten tobacco groups.

The principal speaker is a native of Warren County, Kentucky, and majored in Business Administration at Western Kentucky University. Mr. Snodgrass worked in tobacco export while attending college.

The Members Annual Meeting will get underway with registration at 10:00 to 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. The invocation will be delivered by Rev. Walter Mischke, Jr., Pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Murray. The President's Report will be made by Leonard P. Grief, President of the Association. Mr. Grief is a resident of McCracken County. Financial statements will be presented by an independent auditing firm.

Halford-Thweatt Wedding Planned

The wedding of Miss Kathy Halford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Halford, and Joe Wayne Thweatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pat Thweatt, will be solemnized on Saturday, July 7, at 7 p.m. at the Memorial Baptist Church with the Rev. Dr. Jerrell White officiating.

A program of nuptial music will be presented by Rick McManus, Metropolis, Ill., organist, and Kathy Copeland, Sedalia, vocalist.

Attendants for the bride-elect will be Barbara Coleson, Madisonville, maid of honor, and Penny Wilson, Salem, bridesmaid.

Charles Morton will be best man. Groomsman will be Craig Thweatt, brother of the groom-elect, who will also serve as usher along with Bill Halford, brother of the bride-elect.

A reception will follow in the fellowship hall of the church. All friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding and the reception.

Kathy Halford Is Honored At Three Events

Three other courtesies have been extended to Miss Kathy Halford prior to her July 7th wedding to Joe Wayne Thweatt.

Mrs. Joe Pat James and Mrs. Henry Hutson entertained with a tea shower at the James' home on Doran Road on Monday, June 25, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The honoree chose to wear a blue sundress and was presented a corsage of kitchen gadgets made by Ruth Eversmeyer who also made corsages of silk flowers for the honoree's mother, Mrs. William H. Halford, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Joe Pat Thweatt.

The tea table, overlaid with a white embroidered linen and lace cloth, was centered with an arrangement of roses, in various shades, in a crystal bowl, designed by Mrs. H. O. Brandon.

Refreshments of punch, cake, mints, and nuts were served.

Sandra Hutson presided at the register. Twenty persons were present.

Mitzi Cathey and Donna Humphries entertained with a linen shower held at the home of Miss Cathey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McCuiston, on Wednesday, June 27, at 10 a.m.

Games were played with Carol Sanden and Carolyn Shown as prize winners who presented them to the honoree.

Miss Halford was presented a corsage by the hostesses who also presented her with placemats and napkins to match her pattern of pottery as a wedding gift.

Refreshments of banana nut bread and punch were served. Approximately 12 persons were present or sent gifts.

Barbara Coleson and Penny Wilson, attendants for Miss Halford at her wedding, were hostesses for a shower held Saturday, June 30, at 4:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Wilson's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warren.

The honoree was presented with a corsage and hostess gift of kitchen utensils.

Refreshments of nuts, mints, punch, and petit fours were served.

Those attending were members of the honoree's music fraternity, Sigma Alpha Iota, at Murray State University.

An Adaptive Response For Adoptive Parents

DEAR ABBY: I am the editor of a newsletter for adoptive parents. It is called OURS (Organization for a United Response).

Some years back you had a column about the typical stupid questions all parents of adopted children were asked. You offered some wonderful suggested replies. Could you please hunt up that item and run it again? I would like to run it in our newsletter with your permission.

ANN G. IN EARLINGTON, KY.

DEAR ANN: I found the item, and here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: A prospective adoptive mother asked you for helping in replying to 'dear, kindly, well-meaning' friends and relatives who ask personal questions about the adoption.

May I help? I have been through it four times and have heard all comments and questions. Here are some tried and true responses:

Q: Oh, isn't it a shame you can't have 'children of your own'?

A: Not really; there's a lot of insanity in both our families. Q: Do you know all about the parents?

A: Everything. One was male. The other was female. Q: Did the adoption agency try to match your features, coloring and personalities?

A: Good grief, I hope not! Q: Aren't you worried about hereditary factors?

A: Heaven, no. Regardless of how bad their ancestors were, they've got to be better than ours!

Best wishes!

BEEN THERE

DEAR ABBY: The night before Mother's Day our son called and invited us out for a Mother's Day dinner along with his wife, her brother and his wife, and his wife's mother. Now here's the clincher: "Would we pay our own way since he was broke?"

My wife turned down the invitation, so our son said he'd stop by the house in the morning to wish her a happy Mother's Day.

Abby, this same son went to Nassau last month for a vacation with his wife and his wife's sister and brother. Last summer they had a lovely vacation in Europe, and plan to go again this summer. (They're taking her folks along.)

I am fed up with this whole outfit. It is plain to me that we are not accepted by our son's wife and her people. How can I make my wife see the light? I hate to hurt her feelings. Sign me...

DISGUSTED IN THE LAND O' LAKES

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your wife must see the light as clearly as you. There's no point in rubbing it in. Why discuss the obvious?

DEAR ABBY: You should have told A CARPENTER'S DREAM who was flat as a board to develop a sense of humor about her utterly hopeless condition.

For example, a group of anatomically deprived women here in Northridge has founded a self-help organization called "Bosomless Buddies," seeking to provide support to those whose living bras are dying of malnutrition.

We meet every Saturday at a pre-teen bra counter for such uplifting activities as throwing darts at a poster of Dolly Parton. After the meeting we march through the store two abreast singing, "I've Got Plenty of Nothin'." Then we all go to the Pancake House for lunch. You may sign this, "Two Sunken Treasures in Northridge" or

BARBARA C. AND CAROLYN H.

It's so encouraging to hear people tell the healing they've had from trusting God's care. To hear uplifting readings from the Bible, and from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. To join together in hymns of joy.

There's nothing like it for some midweek inspiration. We'd love to see you there.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Finding potassium

DEAR DR. LAMB — I know certain foods have potassium in them but I'm not sure which ones. Could you please send me your pamphlet on potassium and what to eat. I do feel weak at times.

I was in the hospital two years ago and all they told me was to eat bananas and orange juice. I'm 67 years old.

DEAR READER — There are many causes for weakness or feeling tired. That can even happen from an inadequate amount of sodium salt. You usually won't have a low sodium, though, unless you're taking medicines to wash salt and water out of the body.

Potassium is found in abundant quantities in most fruit. That's why bananas and orange juice were suggested. Both are excellent sources of potassium. People who consume a large amount of fresh fruit and fruit juices should be getting an adequate amount of potassium in their diet.

There's also some potassium in fresh vegetables and even in whole milk. Milk, however, also contains quite a bit of sodium and generally has to be limited on a low-salt (low sodium) diet.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 10-12, Salt: Your Vital Sodium And Potassium Balance, as you have requested. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I just read an article that was sent to me by someone who's trying harder to save my life than I am. It's my father. I say he's trying harder because I'm an alcoholic who hasn't given up alcohol.

I'm serving an 18-month jail sentence for an alcohol-related crime and although

I've read many articles on alcoholism and have been through classes in the AA, I know I will return to alcohol. I've lost jobs and friends and almost everything but I don't care because I resent friends telling me to stop drinking or it might be fatal.

Maybe if they didn't care so much, I would have found a solution on my own. I know when I get out of jail, I'll go straight to the bar and I'll soon be back in jail and eventually my life will end in disaster. The worst part is I really don't care. That's what booze has done for me and I hope you won't let this happen to your readers.

I know alcohol in my case is a killer. This is the ninth time I've been in jail for booze and I'm barely 23 years old. I enjoy getting drunk so much I don't give a damn about the consequences, whether it be more jail or death. Thanks for listening and I hope you have this printed as it's the only way I can tell my folks I love them.

DEAR READER — There is another way — you could stop drinking.

I suspect that you need the services of a psychiatrist who can help you to understand why you drink and if you're using it as a mechanism related to your interrelations with your family. If you learn to understand yourself and work out some of the problems you have, you may find that you really don't enjoy getting drunk as much as you have in the past. That could be the real solution to your problem.

White House Sun Power

The solar panels on the roof of the White House stand out as a signpost pointing the way toward future sources of energy.

The panels were dedicated the other day by President Carter. They will provide sun energy to heat water for the White House staff mess and the office quarters. The cost is $28,000. The savings will be $1,000 a year at today's energy prices and much more as energy prices rise during the 20-year life of the unit. The residents of 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. are setting an example for the rest of the nation.

As the production of fossil fuels winds down and their cost soars in the last quarter of this century, the nation and the world must turn to the use of solar and geothermal energy and other exotic resources — even wind power.

Much can be done with the power of the sun. And by far the best place to start is with simple applications. New homes should be able to gather energy from roof panels and south-facing windows for water and space heat.

The president has called on the nation to fulfill 20 percent of its energy needs from solar and other exotic resources by the end of the century. This goal seems within reach.

Government at all levels must continue to encourage solar power research and use with grants and tax credits. And the sooner the public makes use of presently available solar technology, the better.

Elijah Calls For A Decision

By H.C. Chiles

Spiritual disunity and deterioration began with Jeroboam, but reached its worst during the reign of Ahab, of whom the Bible said: "And Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the Lord above all that were before him."

1 Kings 16:30-33

Ahab's wickedness excelled that of either of his predecessors. The first great tragedy in Ahab's life was that of allowing his father to arrange for his marriage with the daughter of Ethbaal, the king of the Zidonians. The marriage of Ahab and Jezebel was arranged for political reasons, but the sad part of it was that Ethbaal was an idolater. Like her father, the king-priest, she became an ardent worshiper of Baal. Soon after the marriage of Ahab and Jezebel, he was under the complete domination of his strong-willed wife. Being a strong devotee of paganism, she influenced Ahab to worship Baal. At first Jezebel campaigned for the toleration of Baal worship in Israel, and succeeded in getting a shrine erected to him, and a sizable number of the people were enlisted in worshipping Baal. After obtaining equal recognition of the two kinds of worship, Jezebel sought to impose the worship of Baal upon all the people in Israel, and to abolish the worship of Jehovah. Of course, this campaign angered Jehovah greatly. Consequently, God directed Elijah the prophet to confront King Ahab with the validity of the first commandment.

1 Kings 18:17-21

When Elijah obediently and bravely presented himself before the king, wicked Ahab dared to assume the side of right and charged the prophet, with evil. He greeted him with the question, "Art thou he that troubleth Israel?" Thus the hard and impenitent king sought to transfer to another the blame for the judgment which God had sent upon his dominion. Elijah courageously, sternly, and bluntly replied: "I have not troubled Israel; but, thou, and thy father's house, in that ye have forsaken the commandments of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim." Conscious guilt sealed the lips of Ahab.

Elijah challenged Ahab to summon all Israel, including 450 prophets of Baal and 400 prophets of the groves unto Mount Carmel. Ahab did not dare to reject the challenge or to injure the challenger, so he called them together. Longing to convince them of the utter folly of their attempt to worship both Jehovah and Baal, Elijah brought the straight-forward challenge: "How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him." A choice between the true God and the helpless Baal was not optional, but obligatory. An immediate decision was necessary. Conscience-stricken and self-condemned, they stood before Elijah in silence.

1 Kings 18:36-39

Unabashed by the throng, and in striking contrast with the pleadings and contortions of the prophets of Baal, who had been obliged to give up in despair because Baal had failed them in the hour of testing, Elijah simply, quietly, and intelligently called upon God and asked Him for what he needed. His prayer was a profoundly simple expression of an implicit faith in God and His mighty power. Elijah did not pray for a personal vindication, but he did plead that God might be honored in the midst of an unbelieving people. Elijah got what he wanted and needed because he asked according to the will of God and for the glory of God.

In response to the prayer of Elijah, the fire of the Lord fell from heaven, burned up the bullock, the wood, and the stones, and licked up the water that was in the trench around the altar. When the people saw the decisive victory they were convinced. So, they fell on their faces and cried, "The Lord, he is the God; the Lord, he is the God." And no doubt remained.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I am presently 68 years old and I am still working full-time and earning good money. I am thinking about working a few more years, but I am not really sure yet. I know a person can earn as much as he wants and still draw full Social Security benefits after he reaches age 72. Do any of the new Social Security laws affect this rule? — M. B.

Yes, the new Social Security laws did have a change in the age at which no earning requirements apply. It will reduce the age at which the retirement test no longer applies from age 72 to age 70. However, this law will not go into effect until January 1, 1982.

HEARTLINE: My husband had worked in the railroad industry. He died about one month ago. Can you tell me what the requirements are to receive a railroad retirement widow's benefits?

Benefits to the survivors of railroad employees are based on the deceased employee's combined railroad retirement and Social Security credits and are paid by either the Railroad Retirement Board or the Social Security Administration, but not both. Survivor's benefits paid by the Railroad Retirement Board are generally 30 percent greater than the amount that would be payable under Social Security.

A widow or widower is insured for survivor's benefits from the board if the employee had 10 or more years of railroad service and a "current connection" with the railroad industry. Generally, the current connection requirement is met if the employee had 12 months of railroad service in the two-and-a-half working years before retirement or death if earlier.

If these requirements are not met, the employee's railroad retirement credits are transferred to the Social Security Administration and any survivor's benefits due are paid by that agency.

A widow or widower can qualify for benefits at age 60 or at ages 50-59 if totally disabled, or at any age if they are caring for a minor child.

HEARTLINE: I have just turned 65 and started drawing Social Security and being covered by Medicare. I am fairly well off financially, but I don't have a lot of money to waste. I have had different insurance men come to see me about buying a Medicare supplement health insurance policy. In all the policies I have seen there have been exclusions in coverage. Can you tell me about this? — O. E.

An exclusion in this sense means some type of medical condition or cause which will not be covered by the insurance policy.

There is no health insurance policy in existence which does not contain some coverage exclusions. A truly "all-risk" policy would cost too much for the average person and, in fact, would not be regarded as being in the public interest, since there are certain types of losses which cannot and possibly should not be covered.

Some policies contain more exclusions than others. The kind of coverage being afforded is in itself a factor.

Exclusions commonly found in various policies include:

1. Losses resulting from war or military service.
  2. Suicide, attempted suicide or intentionally self-inflicted injuries.
  3. Losses which are payable under workmen's compensation.
  4. Service or treatment provided by any hospital owned or operated by a government agency.
  5. Alcoholism and addiction.
  6. Extended-care facilities and nursing homes.
  7. Psychiatric treatment.
- For people who are needing to purchase health insurance, Heartline has written a book to assist you in purchasing health insurance policies. This book explains things you should know about health insurance and facts you should find out about any policy you are considering purchasing. To order this book, send $1.75 to Heartline's Guide to Health Insurance, P. O. Box 11934, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

The Story Of

Calloway County

1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

Hundreds of loads of tobacco were lining the prizery district before the holidays looking for needy Christmas cash, but farmers were becoming increasingly unhappy with the Association payments for 1907 crops, dribbling in two years late. With every delayed check there was a public official waiting and threatening for back tax payments. The year 1909 passed with another 8,000 crowd on 4th Monday in March, teachers salaries increased, delayed tobacco money was trickling through, Almo Park was the scene of the Christian Church and Methodist Church annual picnic, schools were getting thicker than fleas on a hound's back, the music played on, Bloomer Girls and all, while heck was popping as never before or hereafter on the political scene. The best is saved for the last in this chapter of events.

The entire year broiled with discontent within the Democrat Party in Calloway, that established an all-time high in factional strife, never before seen nor to ever re-assert itself for "the din of arms, the yell of savage, the shriek of agony, the groan of death," laid bare the worst in man; the gravest faults of democracy. The origin? Town vs. county. Result: A bare majority for three of the four contested offices were won by members of the Republican Party.

The county Democratic organization was perfected after the previous years general election with each delegate from the county precincts eligible to vote. Several of the delegates did not have the precinct secretary's endorsement in writing as required by party law. Nonetheless, an election of officers was held, but a minority left the room and held a rump convention, resulting in two sets of Democratic Party officers. The state organization, dominated by big cities, held the rump convention should prevail when an appeal was made to governing party officials. The result was the election of Zeb Stewart, K. Robertson and N. B. Chrisman as party officers of the Democratic Party in Calloway.

In the following primary the county Democratic officers disqualified over 2,000 Democrats from voting, thus effecting victories for the Stewart-Robertson-Chrisman candidates.

To Be Continued

Editor's Note: To determine the number of hard-bound books of "The Story of Calloway County, 1822-1976" to be printed, the authors request that prospective buyers indicate number of books desired at an estimated cost of $15 a copy. Do NOT send any money! Printing is to begin this fall and completion anticipated by September, 1980. Mail request postcard to Dorothy and Kerby Jennings, 221 N. 13th Street, Murray, Ky. 42071.

Today In History

Today is Friday, July 6, the 187th day of 1979. There are 178 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1923, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was formed.

On this date: In 1699, the notorious pirate, Capt. William Kidd, was taken into custody in Boston. He later was hanged in England.

In 1837, the Republic of Texas sent an ambassador to Washington.

Ten years ago: New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller ended a Latin American fact-finding mission for President Richard Nixon and said the demonstrations he encountered showed an urgent need for changes in the hemisphere.

Five years ago: U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger met at the Vatican with Pope Paul VI and was praised by the Roman Catholic pontiff for his personal service in the cause for peace.

One year ago: Israeli fighters flew over Beirut to underline warnings by Israel that it would not allow Lebanon's Christian population to be overrun by Syrian troops in Lebanon on a peacekeeping mission.

Today's birthdays: Actor Sylvester Stallone is 33. Actress Janet Leigh is 52. Television personality Merv Griffin is 54. Opera soprano Dorothy Kirsten is 60. Brad Park of the Boston Bruins hockey team is 31.

Thought for today: To cease smoking is the easiest thing I ever did. I ought to know because I've done it a thousand times — Mark Twain, American humorist, 1835-1910.

Funny Funny World

A politician was addressing a large group of voters when the microphone went dead. Raising his voice, he shouted to a man in the back row, "Can you hear me?" The man cupped his ear and shook his head. At that, a man in the front row stood up and shouted to the man in the back, "I can hear, and I'll change places with you."

Bible Thought

"Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon." Jeremiah 28:2

The God who allows men to be placed in power can just as easily remove them. No child of God should be discouraged with the world situation; God is still on His throne.

Fair Weather Christians

Some people are "fair weather" Christians. They believe that God will make us healthy, wealthy, and wise. When this doesn't happen right away, they become disillusioned and bitter. Then they say that Christianity "doesn't work."

These people have seriously misinterpreted Christ's message. He never promised us worldly success. On the contrary, He said it is difficult to reconcile worldly success and spiritual belief. Christ promised us only the certain knowledge of His father's love. For dedicated Christians this is enough. It creates for them a happiness unknown to "fair weather" Christians.

Go West, Young Woman? Mounts Still Undecided

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

When Jackie Mounts boards a plane tomorrow for San Francisco, a decision won't be made. And after a week of rookie camp in the San Francisco Pioneers organization, she still may not be sure.

"If I had to decide right now," Mounts laughed during a telephone conversation today from her Springfield, Ohio, home, "I would probably flip a coin."

All this confusion was brought about on June 12, when the Pioneers, a franchise in the one-year-old Women's Basketball League, chose Mounts in the sixth round of its draft.

Up until then, Mounts, a four-year regular on the Murray State basketball team, was contentedly making plans to return to Murray this fall as a graduate assistant under Coach Jean Smith — the start of Mounts' coaching career.

"I just thought my playing days were over," Mounts says. "Then this guy from the Pioneers gave me a call and told me I had been drafted and to report to rookie camp. I was shocked."

Probably more than her fans at Murray. Anyone who had watched Mounts rip down rebounds consistently (she once had 27 against Vanderbilt), knows how talented she is.

Although a scoring threat herself, she was content most of her career to be more of a rebounder and playmaker, often sacrificing short jump shots for assists. Last season, she led both the Kentucky Women's Intercollegiate Conference and the Ohio Valley Conference in rebounding, despite a slow start that had her wondering.

"I began to notice that my competitive edge seemed to go down last year," admits Mounts. "So I'm not really sure I want to continue to play. I'm not sure if the desire is present."

Even if Mounts should find the motivation, she admits the league is, at best, unstable. Though it is unlike now-dead uprisings like the World Football League and the American Basketball Association in that it doesn't have to fight an already-established organization, it still has problems.

Women's basketball has yet to prove it can draw on its own. From the high-school level and up, a crowd of 1,000, aside from tournaments in which more than two teams are involved, is rare. And that factor, knows every businessman, is the bottom line.

"That doesn't really bother me, though," says Mounts. "I know I would be taking a chance that the league might not last." After seven days or so with the other rookies, Mounts says, she will be offered a contract; assuming, of course, the Pioneers are still interested in her.

"I've got to admit it's a challenge," she says. "I think coaching is where my real interest is, but I just don't know about the playing end."

"My gosh, I've never been any farther west than St. Louis," Mounts says. "The agent that called me said that once I got our there (to San Francisco), I would want to stay."

"But I'm not so sure."

Jackie Mounts (left) will report to the San Francisco Pioneers' rookie camp tomorrow, but she isn't sure she wants to continue her basketball-playing days.

Navratilova Easily Tops Evert-Lloyd For Second Wimbledon Title In Row

By the Associated Press
WIMBLEDON, England — Martina Navratilova fought back Chris Evert Lloyd 6-4, 6-4 today to win the Wimbledon tennis championship for the second year in a row.

Navratilova unleashed her overpowering serve-and-volley attack to crush a listless and error-prone Lloyd.

The victory strengthens Navratilova's claim to the No. 1 ranking in women's tennis, the position Lloyd had held nearly unchallenged for four years — until last year.

After an indifferent winter season, Lloyd had seemed renewed going into the final here. She had lost just one match during the European spring circuit.

But today she seemed uninspired and never really was in the match.

It was a disappointment for the sellout crowd of 17,000, some of whom paid up to $700 to scalpers for a pair of tickets.

These two top-ranking players have had a series of hard, spectacular duels. Two weeks ago Lloyd beat Navratilova on grass at Eastbourne 7-5, 5-7, 13-11 in a match widely held to be the best the two had ever played against each other.

Martina beat Chris in the 1978 Wimbledon final 6-4, 4-6, 9-7 to highlight a season in which she had a 44-2 match record and gained the top spot on the computer ranking list.

Chris, recognized as No. 1 by the International Tennis Federation, disputed the computer's analysis and said she believed she would prove her right to the throne in this Wimbledon final. It had been hers in 1974 and 1976.

But today Navratilova had her unpredictable nerves in check and her play at the net was deadly.

Billie Jean King and Martina Navratilova defeated Virginia Wade and Francoise Durr 6-2, 6-4 in Wimbledon women's doubles action; while Betty Stove and Wendy Turnbull defeated Mima Jausovec and Virginia Ruzici 6-1, 7-5.

In mixed doubles, John Newcombe and Evonne Cawley of Australia beat Dave Sherbeck and Jane Stratton, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4; Kim Warwick of Australia and Betsy Nagelsen downed Marty Riessen and Wendy Turnbull 5-7, 6-4, 6-2; Frew McMillan of South Africa and Betty Stove of the Netherlands defeated Dave Lloyd and Lesley Charles of Great Britain, 6-1, 6-2; and Bob Hewitt and Greer Stevens of South Africa beat John Marks of Australia and Renate Tomanova of Czechoslovakia, 6-2, 6-4.

Former NBA Ref Rudolph Is Dead

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK — For years, Mendi Rudolph took the slings and arrows of outraged players. In the end, though, he got the chance to tell pro basketball fans why those missiles were so often misguided.

Rudolph, who died Thursday after suffering a heart attack, spent 22 years as one of the most visible referees in the National Basketball Association. He was 53.

It wasn't until his officiating days were over that NBA fans really got to know him — as a color commentator on CBS' telecasts and, in a lighter vein, as Tommy Heinsohn's foil in a Lite Beer commercial.

Funeral services were set for today in New York.

"He was one of the great basketball officials of all time," NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien said. "He symbolized the fine qualities and knowledge of the game all referees should possess."

Rudolph whose last health problem was a pulmonary embolism he suffered April 25, 1975, while working a playoff game between the Buffalo Braves and Washington Bullets at Landover Md., was given a clean bill of health after his ensuing three-week hospital stay.

The well-known veteran of a record 2,112 pro basketball games chose to retire from the NBA grind, rather than referee again.

He also declined a position in the league's front office.

Borg Now Dominating Jimmy Connors

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent —

WIMBLEDON, England — OK, Jimbo, take your armful of steel racquets and run.

Nobody can blame you much for wanting to put as much distance between Jimmy Connors and Bjorn

Borg as possible — and as quickly as possible.

But it would have been a nice gesture, don't you think, Jimmy, if, after being clobbered by your long-time rival in the men's semifinal at Wimbledon, you had put a friendly arm around the young Swede's shoulder and said: "Nice match, Bjorn."

—Even fighters who spend 15 rounds knocking each other's teeth out accord each other that little courtesy, win or lose.

But you chose to remain in character and give Borg the same kiss-off you've handed the international press corps since you arrived here.

Who cares about the press? Millions will applaud your slight in that respect. But nobody will forgive you for coldshouldering the great guy who has been trading racquet punches with you for six years.

No beef from Bjorn. When asked what you said after the 106-minute, straight-set match, the phlegmatic Scandinavian shrugged and said:

"Nothing. We didn't speak." Four minutes after the last shot was hit you made the fastest exit in Wimbledon's 102-year history.

You, Jimmy Connors, are now the property of Bjorn Borg. He owns you now, heart and soul, just as he owns Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

So we can say good-bye to those titanic Borg-Connors duels, just as we stored away memories of the once exciting Borg-Vilas rivalries.

They are not contests any longer. They are mere warm-ups. Pity the 17,000 who crammed into Wimbledon's center court — some paying as much as 150 British pounds (more than $300) — to see a contest.

It was like watching Muhammad Ali punching the small bag in the gym. It was John Wayne against the Apaches. It was a thundering freight train going head-on against a runaway rabbit.

Who's left to challenge the great Bjorn Borg? Roscoe Tanner maybe in Saturday's final with his scorching 153-mile-an-hour serve, but the bookies won't even put it on the boards. John McEnroe perhaps in the long run. But not you, Jimbo. Not you.

Bjorn may have been your patsy back in the early 1970s, but he's got your number now. His victory margin this year — 6-2, 6-3, 6-2 — was the same as that in the final here a year ago.

He now has beaten you in eight of the last 11 matches. This year he has beaten you in three tournaments, losing only 17 games in seven sets. It has been murderous.

As a court warrior, Jimbo, the world has admired you greatly. The game has never produced a fiercer fighter. You have scrambled for every point — diving, leaping, grunting, cursing yourself — fought back from unbelievable odds and established an enviable record.

Too bad you couldn't have been as admirable as Borg in your relations with the public.

Borg was stupendous. His service came off the racquet like a lightning bolt. He had 11 clean aces. His looping topspin forehand and two-fisted backhand were deadly guided missiles.

Jimbo, maybe you were just too stunned to talk.

U.S. Maintains Medal Lead

By the Associated Press
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — United States swimmers continue their destruction of the competition and the record books at the VIII Pan American Games, but the ballooning U.S. medal count got some unexpected help from a 14-year-old gymnast.

Jeanine Creek, who enters high school this fall in Great Falls, Mont., surprised a confident Canadian squad with a silver medal individual performance in the free exercise Thursday.

Gymnastics is a sport the Americans almost have written off in these Games, sending only their second- and third-team athletes. The best U.S. gymnasts stayed home to prepare for more important international competitions that use Olympic rules, which the Pan Am Games do not.

In Creek's event, there weren't even enough other U.S. competitors to constitute a team for overall scoring purposes.

The swimmers are out to get all the gold medals.

At Mexico City four years ago, U.S. swimmers took the gold medal in all but two swimming races. So far, in 16 events they have 16 gold medals and 16 Pan Am Games records. They earned six golds Thursday.

The suspected weakest links in the chain came up tonight. Jesse Vassallo, upset Thursday night by teammate Peter Rocca in 200-meter backstroke, has to beat world record holder Graham Smith of Canada in the 200-meter individual medley to keep alive hopes of a U.S. sweep.

In the women's 200-meter breaststroke, the U.S. hopes ride on two little-known swimmers: Patty Spees, of Oakland, Calif., and Renee Laravie of Dayton, Ohio, while breast stroke specialists Tami Paumier and Tracy Caulkins sit out.

Caulkins, of Nashville, Tenn., makes her final Games appearance tonight in the 400-meter freestyle, in which she faces teammate Cynthia Woodhead of Riverside, Calif.

Caulkins' hopes for five gold medals here were dashed Tuesday night when Paumier edged her in the 100-meter breast stroke. She had three golds and a silver entering tonight's competition.

But Woodhead, with three events to go, still was hopeful of running her gold medal count from two to five.

Rowdy Gaines, Winter Park, Fla., and Linda Jezek, Los Altos, Calif., were also competing today for their third gold medals in swimming — he in the 800 freestyle relay, she in the 200 backstroke.

Tom Peterson of Tacoma, Wash., took the seventh U.S. gold Thursday with his second winning performance in the 10,000-meter roller skating final.

The biggest problems the Americans may encounter in some events is over-confidence.

Amateur Clampett Is Western Leader

By the Associated Press
OAK BROOK, Ill. — Bob Clampett is more than a 19-year-old cut-up from California. He's a darn good golfer.

Although he begs off questions about his U.S. Open antics of last month by saying, "The chapter's over. Why prolong it?" he finds it tough to keep his sense of humor hidden.

"How am I looking for low amateur?" he kidded Thursday after tying Bruce Devlin and Jim Simons for the first-round lead in the $300,000 Western Open.

Earlier, responding to a question about the strongest part of his game, the shaggyhaired blond — the lone amateur in the tourney — said, "They're all weak. I'd say my strongest part is probably luck."

Clampett, who will enter his junior year at Brigham Young University in the fall, missed the cut in the U.S. Open but played in the third round to fill out a twoosome.

One stroke back were two-time Western champion Tom Watson, Calvin Peete, Allen Miller, John Lister, John Fought, Pat McGowan and Dale Douglass.

Chick Evans was the only amateur to win the Western Open. He did it in 1910. Clampett won both the Western Amateur and Western Junior events in 1978.

SOFTBALL

The Aces beat the Hawks 20-7, and the Royals stopped the Cougars 10-8 in lower-division girls softball play yesterday.

Sherrie Meadows and Becky Snow homered for the Hawks, and Mel Jackson homered twice for the Aces. Sherida Outland added a homer for the losers.

Kelly Jameson smacked a home run for the Royals in their triumph, while Shelly Howell had a round-tripper for the Cougars.

McFerron Hurls No-Hitter In Little League Win

COLT LEAGUE
Robin Roberts hammered two doubles, and Darren Hooper pitched a four-hitter as the Braves beat the Tigers 10-1 last night to gain a split of their doubleheader. In the first game, the Giants topped the Braves 4-1.

Stacy Smith was the winner in relief for the Giants in the opener, and Tony Herndon added a double. Roberts doubled for the Braves.

Vic Marshall, Marty McCuiston, Kim Wilson and Tim McAlister all doubled for the Braves in their victory. Jeff Blodgett doubled and Mark Denham tripled for the Tigers.

KENTUCKY LEAGUE
Trent Weaver hammered two doubles to pace the A's to a 6-4 triumph over the Twins last night. In the first game, Chris Padgett singled, doubled and tripled to help the Yanks stop the Astros 8-2.

Pat Wilson smacked two doubles and pitched a five-hitter for the Yanks. Brooks Barton and Greg Futrell rapped two hits each for the losers.

Scott Butwell singled twice for the Twins.

Bonnell Helps Braves' Victory; Langford One-Hits California

By the Associated Press
Atlanta's Barry Bonnell took a detour en route from second base to third Thursday night and kept a ninth-inning rally going that ended with a 5-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The Braves trailed 4-3 when Mike Lum led off the ninth with a single. He was sacrificed to second and scored on pinch hitter Biff Pocoroba's single.

Pocoroba took second on the throw to the plate and Bonnell was sent in as a pinch-runner. Giants reliever Greg Minton walked pinch-hitter Joe Nolan before getting Jerry Royster for the second out.

Gary Matthews hit a grounder to third. Darrell Evans fielded the ball but missed an attempt to tag Bonnell and the bases were loaded. Evans said Bonnell left the basepath and should have been called out. Evans later was thrown out of the game and Office delivered the game-winning hit.

In other National League action, the Chicago Cubs downed the Montreal Expos 3-1, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Houston Astros 5-4, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-0 and the New York Mets nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2. Los Angeles and San Diego were not scheduled.

"It's true I left the basepath," Bonnell said, "but I had to to keep from running over him (Evans)."

Cubs 3, Expos 1
Rick Reuschel scattered six hits over 7 1/3 innings for his fifth consecutive triumph and Bruce Sutter gained his 18th save for Chicago. The Cubs snapped a 1-1 tie in the fifth when loser Scott Sanderson walked Reuschel with one out. Scott Thompson's two-out single sent Reuschel to third and Bill Buckner then drilled a double down the right field line for the lead run. Sutter retired all five batters he faced over the final 12-3 innings.

Reds 5, Astros 4
Tom Seaver took his fifth victory since returning from a back injury as the Reds ended an Astros' six-game winning streak. Seaver allowed three hits in five innings before giving up three runs in the sixth.

Cardinals 2, Pirates 0
Rookie John Fulgham, a St. Louis native, scattered nine hits for his first major league shutout, and right fielder George Hendrick made a gamesaving catch to end the contest. The Cardinals scored both runs off Jim Rooker in the first inning on Lou Brock's single, Keith Hernandez' RBI double and an RBI single by Hendrick.

Mets 3, Phils 2
New York's Joel Youngblood jolted Dickie Noles in the pitcher's first major league appearance with a game-opening home run. The Mets made it 3-0 in the fourth on a walk, a double by Richie Hebner, Willie Montanez' single and John Stearns' sacrifice fly. Winner Craig Swan blanked the Phillies until pinch-hitter Del Unser's two-run homer in the seventh.

double down the right field line for the lead run. Sutter retired all five batters he faced over the final 12-3 innings.

step back quicker and thrown overhand, I would have gotten him," he said.

Langford, 4-9, saw it differently. "Wayne did all he could."

Sorensen and Honeycutt were almost as tough. The Milwaukee hurler pitched 7 1/3 innings of no-hit ball before giving up the first of two New York hits as the Brewers stopped the Yankees 3-0. Honeycutt lost his no-hit bid after 5 1/3 innings, settling for a three-hitter as the Mariners blanked the Minnesota Twins 4-0.

In other AL games Thursday, it was Detroit 3, Toronto 2; Chicago 5, Cleveland 4 and Boston 5, Kansas City 4.

Langford said his outing helped take some of the sting out of Wednesday's shellacking of the A's by California.

Gross doubled off Angels starter Nolan Ryan, 10-6, to score Jeff Newman, who had led off the seventh inning with a walk. He later scored on Jim Essian's single.

Brewers 3, Yankees 0
Sorensen said he almost expected a no-hitter to be thrown.

How To Attract Prowlers

It's easy.

Just decide to sell your own home without the help of a Realtor.

You'll have all kinds of people prowling everywhere. Around the clock. Just ask anyone willing to remember the time he tried to sell his own home. The stories are grizzly.

Until they get to the part where they threw in the towel and got some help from a professional Realtor. The way they'll talk about their Realtor will remind you of the cavalry saving homesteaders from the Indians.

A Realtor can save you too. Save you a lot of time and headaches. For a lot of good reasons. If you're thinking of selling your own home, maybe you should consider some of them.

What have you got to lose?

Without a Realtor, plenty.

Market demand, seasonality of sales, location and a dozen other factors can change your home's value overnight. A Realtor knows all about these things. He can make sure your asking price is right. And he can make sure you get it.

Do it yourself, and you'll probably ask too much. Or too little. Either way, you're going to wind up losing.

Strangers in the night

The minute you post your "For Sale by Owner" sign in the front yard, you're fair game for anyone passing by with a few minutes (or hours) to kill.

You'll meet them all. And in the oddest places. The sweet little old lady with the big shopping bag you run into rummaging through your garage. The guy in the T-shirt and brown bomber jacket you find under the porch checking for termites. And those people you never really get a good look at as they peer in the window during the late news.

But that's just the beginning. Wait until you decide you're not getting enough real prospects and put an ad in the paper.

Your feelings about the telephone will never be the same. You'll talk to people at all hours of the day and night.

Some of them will even show up. At all hours of the day and night.

A Realtor can solve these problems for you. He'll screen the prospects from the window-shoppers and just plain weirdos. He'll dig out their needs, desires and financial situation.

Best of all, though, he'll show your house only when it's convenient for you.

The games people play

So there you are. Hearty smile and firm handshake ready for the first buyer.

You're ready to handle anything. Like "Why, the stairs do creak a bit." Or "You'll certainly be taking those cheesy drapes with you, won't you?"

Well, maybe you are. And maybe you aren't. Why take a chance? Realtors are fully trained in the fine art of salesmanship. That includes turning an objection into an advantage. And a Realtor knows how to get the indecisive buyer to make up his mind. Realtors go to school to learn all about it.

Suddenly, your buyer makes an offer. Unfortunately, it's well below, far below, your asking price.

What do you do now? Get mad? Argue? Probably. It's the worst thing you could do.

Because you're the owner, you'll find it nearly impossible to negotiate with a buyer. Bargaining over price, terms and possession date is best done by a professional with an eye for details.

A Realtor is the go-between and advisor when he helps sell your home. He handles the negotiations. He'll look out for you and tell you to stick to your guns when you're right. And he'll tell you when the buyer is right, too.

Poplar Spring Will Hold Sunday School Program

The Poplar Spring Baptist Church will start a 12 weeks' Sunday School attendance-building program on Sunday, July 8, through a study of the Twelve Disciples of Jesus, according to John Warren, Sunday School Director.

The "Campaign of the Twelve" will involve the entire congregation in a study of the men that Jesus chose to help Him in His ministry on earth, Warren said. Each member and visitor will receive a charm in the likeness of the disciple studied each Sunday, and the charm will be attached to key rings for the men and boys and a charm bracelet for the ladies and girls.

This Sunday, the first disciple of Jesus, which was Andrew, will be studied. After the study of the Twelve Disciples, an extensive study of the Apostle Paul will be held.

The public is invited to attend this special study at the church, said Mr. Warren and also the church pastor, the Rev. Ron Adams.

Vera, Of 'Alice,' One Of Few Actresses Who Doesn't Want Own Show

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) —
 Beth Howland, who plays
 Vera on CBS' "Alice," may be one of the few actresses around who doesn't want her own series.

She shook her head when asked about that. "I just want to work all the time," she said. "I wouldn't want my own show. I really want to do a play. There's a certain freedom in the theater. Like doing the runthrough for the special, 'You Can't Take It
 With You,' was so much fun."

"Alice," starring Linda Lavin in the lead, begins its fourth year on CBS Sunday.

It was adapted from the Warner Bros. movie "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore," which won an Oscar for Ellen Burstyn. Miss Howland's Vera is different from the Vera played in the film by Valerie Curtin. In the movie, she was a little tougher and had a biker boyfriend named "Daddy."

"I look what was written in the pilot, but since the show's started, Vera's changed a lot," says Miss Howland. "In the beginning my feeling was that Vera was real dumb and inept. She was a kind of joke. It hurt my feelings."

Miss Howland says she sees something of herself in Vera. "I'm shy. Very shy. I used to be really insecure. I'm not insecure any more. I'm a little naive sometimes, but not as much as Vera. I guess I'm really a cynic."

Beth Howland was born and raised in Boston, trained as a singer and civilian life believing he was previously a racketeer and sets out find to the answer. John Hodiak, Nancy Guild, Lloyd Nolan, 1946
